Ecoactivism

I think it's a wonderful thing, it's helping nature. Me and my family engage in planting trees, recycling we also go around our town/street and pick up garbage. Ecoactivists are great people who try to keep this Blue planet of ours.

If ~~you~~ you just start recycling it will help. It's really sad that people started to realise that what they are doing is harmful to nature only when it was too late.

How could we help?

Well there are a lot of ways for example:

Stop throwing garbage into forests, stop cutting down trees...

Also factories and their garbage go into oceans.

~~Or~~ Or when we cut down trees we are destroying shelters for animals and causing a massive oxygen loss.

~~People also~~ Factories also cause huge air pollution.

All of these things are really harmful to nature, but thankfully there are some amazing people that try to stop these things from happening.

Although we will probably never get completely rid of these problems it's a great thing to try and stop them from speeding.
